On the sixth of April, 1997, the creative minds of Ananda and Ben came together in a performance held in a little room at 2657 Foothill Road. A few lucky souls were invited to this rare performance, and enjoyed a night of great music, cheesecake, and coffee.

This recording is the documentation of that night. The musical set was comprised of ten songs. The first three were performed by Ananda, as was the first half of the fourth song. During the fourth song, Ben accompanied Ananda, and they played three old time HUSK songs together. Ben took the stage for the last three songs.

During the performance, a small blank book was passed around the room to the audience. As an "admission fee" of sorts, they were all required to produce a drawing. Most agreed to the fee, but others got away enjoying the night for free. The drawings reproduced in this CD are from that night.
